View
Angular variables updated from controller to display information on the webpage.

listings.client.route.js defines template and parameters to show correct view on state changes listings.client.controller.js client calls factory methods, which are passed through angular dependency injection listings.client.factory.js methods in factory make http queries to send and retrieve listing data listings.server.routes.js defines functions that are called in listings.server.controller based on http method and url listings.server.controller.js API that interacts with DB and returns data and/or status code